

Mellon Library Fellowship: Notes from the Field

Panel presentation with 2005-2006 Mellon Library Fellows:
Elizabeth Byrne, Kathleen Gallagher and Lynn Jones

How does participating in the Mellon project affect librarians' collaboration with faculty?
Is it the same old, same old, or can we reframe the game?

Wednesday, 22 March 2006
Howard Room, Men's Faculty Club
8:30 - 10:00 a.m.

The Mellon Library Fellows will describe their successes and struggles to improve the quality of library instruction in what might be considered an ideal context: a faculty professional development project where librarians were 'designed in' from the beginning as partners to support undergraduate research skills.

Whether you're thinking of applying for the fellowship, or simply interested in instructional issues, come for coffee and conversation.
