New Direction area name: Intellectual Property/Copyright

Starting point 1: Designate a small group (2 people?) to do an environmental scan to review what groups in the library, on campus, and at UCOP are actively looking at IP and copyright issues. Including:

- Office of the President
- California Digital Library
- The Library
- Educational Technology Services
- Information Services and Technology
- Office of Educational Development
- Office of Student Conduct
- Copy Services
- Individual students and faculty

- Benefits:
  - Start to identify potential partners
  - Potential for sharing with and benefiting from other efforts
  - Communication will create opportunity for joint ownership and keep issues from falling through the cracks

- Risks/Concerns:
  - Realizing the complexity of issues
  - Create potential adversaries

Starting point 2: Designate a small group (2 people?) to survey Library staff to determine our own needs related to copyright.

- Benefits:
  - Helps scope the problem
  - First step in addressing the problems that exist

- Risks/Concerns:
  - Raises expectations that a solution will be forthcoming

Starting point 3: Tom Leonard should have a conversation with the Provost about the importance of copyright issues and potential support for the Library taking a leadership role.

- Benefits:
  - Raises awareness of our concerns
  - First step in securing resources

- Risks/Concerns:
  - If we are pushing limits, we open ourselves up to legal action
