Guidelines for contributors

Substantive articles, which will be peer-reviewed before publication, should be no longer than 10,000 words. We also invite shorter contributions, book reviews and research digests which should be no longer than 1500 words. As this journal is multi-disciplinary in its approach and is aimed at a broad audience, we urge authors to write in plain English so that their work can be easily understood. In most instances, the recommendations of the Commonwealth Style Manual should be followed. The Harvard system of referencing should always be used. More detailed guidelines are available on request.
