1 SUBMISSION
Authors should submit four copies of the manuscript. One copy should include the original or top copies of illustrations (clearly marked ‘original’ and with the name of the author). Manuscripts should be addressed to:
The Editors, Conservation and Management of Archaeological Sites, James & James (Science Publishers) Ltd, 35–37 William Road, London NW1 3ER, UK.
Authors should keep a copy of the papers and illustrations. While the Editors, Referees and Publishers will take all possible care of material submitted to the journal, they cannot be held responsible for the loss of or damage to any material in their possession. All papers will be peer-reviewed before acceptance.

2 LANGUAGE AND STYLE
Papers should be in English, and should be written and arranged in a style that is succinct and easy for readers to understand. Authors who are unable to submit their papers in English should contact the Editors so that any alternatives may be considered.
Illustrations should be used to aid the clarity of the paper - do not include several versions of similar illustrations, or closely related diagrams, unless each is making a distinct point.

3 MANUSCRIPT PREPARATION AND LAYOUT
The manuscript should be typed or printed in double-spacing on one side of the paper (A4 letter) only with a 5-cm/2-inch wide margin on the left hand side. The pages should be numbered consecutively and there should be no extra material or addenda. Headings and subheadings should be used so that the paper is easy to follow. The first page of the manuscript should contain the full title of the paper, the author(s) names without qualifications or titles, and the affiliations and full address of each author. The precise postal address, telephone and fax numbers of the author to whom correspondence should be addressed should also be included.
The second page should contain an abstract of the paper. This should be no more than 200 words long and should précis the paper, giving a clear indication of its conclusions. This page should also contain a short (30-word) ‘biography’ of each author.

Tables and schemas
Each of these should be on a separate sheet, at the end of the manuscript, clearly labelled with the name of the main author.

Submission on disk
Where possible, authors should include a version of their paper on disk, clearly labelled with the name of the main author and the word-processing program. All the main word-processing programs are acceptable, preferably in IBM format. Tables or schema should not be integrated with the text, but should be positioned at the end of the manuscript (see above).

Symbols, abbreviations and conventions
Please use SI (Système Internationale) units. Whenever an acronym or abbreviation is used, ensure that it is spelled out in full the first time it appears. Please indicate in the margin any unusual symbols such as Greek letters that are used in the paper.

References
Number references consecutively through the text and then collect them at the end of the paper. All references in the reference list should appear in the text. Each reference must include full details of the work referred to, including paper or chapter titles and opening and closing page numbers.

In Text:
Smith [8] argued that... but this is contradicted by more recent research [9–15].

In Reference List:
Journals
Proceedings

Illustrations
Illustrations should be included at the end of the manuscript. Photographs and line drawings should be referred to in the text as Fig. 1, Fig. 2 etc. Each illustration requires a caption.
Illustrations should be numbered in the order in which they appear. They should be submitted in a form ready for reproduction – no redrawing or retouching will be carried out by the Publishers. Each illustration should be clearly marked with the figure number, the name of the main author, and the orientation, if it is needed.
Most line drawings will be reduced in size for publication, usually by about 50%. Please bear this in mind and try to ensure that all lines are at least 0.25mm thick and lettering is in upper and lower case with capitals at least 4mm high.
If drawings have been produced on computer drawing packages, they may also be submitted on disk (clearly labelled with the name of the main author and the drawing package used). Photographs should be black and white glossy prints.

4 OFFSETS
Upon publication, the principal author of each paper will receive 25 free offprints. Further copies may be ordered using the form provided with proofs of the paper.

5 COPYRIGHT
Submission of an article to the journal is taken to imply that it represents original work, not under consideration for publication elsewhere. Authors will be asked to transfer the copyright of their papers to the publishers. Copyright covers the distribution of the material in all forms including but not limited to reprints, photographic reproductions and microfilm.
It is the responsibility of the author(s) of each paper to collect any permissions and acknowledgements necessary for the paper to be published prior to submission to the Journal.
