and the Use of Life Tables in Anthroprises in Archaeology and Biological An-edited by A. C. Swedlund. Memoirs of thology 30:46-56.
ending, and K. M. Weiss
of Inferring Prehistoric Health
ent Anthropology 33:343-70.
the Study of the Mortuary Customs of
s. In *First Annual Report of the Bureau

The Missouri Archaeologist publishes monograph-length studies and collections of papers related to the prehistory and history of Missouri and the Midwest. Typescripts should be addressed to: Editor, The Missouri Archaeologist, P.O. Box 958, Columbia, Mo., 65205. All typescripts should be double spaced on one side only of 8H-x-11-inch bond paper. Two copies of the manuscript should be submitted. Please leave ample margins on all sides. Electronic submissions are also accepted, please check with the office for suitable formats. Authors receive five copies of the finished publication.

Good illustrations are desirable. Line drawings must be in black ink, and photographs should be glossy in black-and-white. All illustrations are reduced to an image size of no more than 4H x 6 inches, so be sure what you submit will reproduce well at that scale. All illustrations, and all tables, must be keyed to the manuscript text in the order in which they will appear. Do not use figure captions or titles directly on the figure itself.

Text references should be in parentheses immediately following the statement to which they refer, and they should include the last name of the writer, the year of publication, and the page numbers of the work cited, in that order (e.g., Henning 1970:189).

A list of "References Cited" should include the name or names of the writer(s), the date of publication, title of the book or article, name of the publisher or of the journal, volume and number, pages referred to, and place of publication. Examples:

Wright, H. E., Jr. (ed.)

Henning, D. R.

Footnotes rarely are used in The Missouri Archaeologist. If used, they should be keyed to that part of the text to which they refer and should be typed, double spaced, on a separate sheet of paper.

It is the responsibility of the contributor to check statements of fact, to be certain of the completeness and accuracy of quotations and references, and to include proper acknowledgements of the work and assistance of others. All copyrights and publishers reservations must be observed. For more information on style, consult the most recent issue of The Missouri Archaeologist or contact the editorial staff of the Society.

Conclusions drawn or opinions expressed by authors are not necessarily shared by the editorial staff of the Missouri Archaeological Society.