INFORMATION FOR AUTHORS

The following are guidelines for the prospective authors suggested by the Editorial Board of the “Problems of Tourism”.

1. Articles should present scientific methods of economic, social, physical and organizational research on tourism and leisure phenomena and an analysis of their interrelation. Field research findings which illustrate methods and theoretical solutions will also be considered for publication.

2. Articles hitherto not published and written in English or Polish are welcome. If the contributions accepted for publication are sent in other languages, the Editorial Board will have them translated into English and Polish with the author's permission. Original texts should accompany the translated articles which should not exceed 25 typed pages. Texts registered on computer minidisks are welcome. Any text editor is acceptable.

3. Articles should be typed on one side of page only, double spaced (no more than 30 lines on the page) and with a 3.5 cm margin on the left side. The original and one complete copy (including graphs, charts, tables, etc.) should be mailed to the following address: INSTYTUT TURYSTYKI — 02–511 Warszawa, Poland, ul. Merliniego 9a, „Problems of Tourism”.

4. The title of the paper, author’s full name and academic degree should be specified on the first page. On the second page you are requested to give a summary of the article (up to 20 typed lines) and the abstract — if possible, also in English.

5. The summary should concisely inform the reader of the article's content and its findings. In the final part you are requested to specify key words and main theses.

6. Articles on thematic issues should be delivered no later than nine months before expected publication.

7. Unsolicited typescripts, which are not accepted for publication, will not be sent back by the Editorial Board.

8. The author's fees will be paid in Poland in zlotys according to respective Polish regulations.
