

UPTON SINCLAIR

STATION A
PARADENA, CALIFORNIA

November 18, 1931.

Emma Goldman,
St.-Tropez, A.M.
France.

My dear Emma Goldman:

I got your address from the second volume, and also from Isaac Don Levine, who happens to be out here.

I read the second volume with the same interest as the first. The only thing I missed was a paragraph or two stating your view of the Five Year Plan. You were convinced in 1921 that the Communists could never run industry, but that does not stand up very well in the light of the past year or two.

I am sure you will not think me presumptuous if I point out a few slips in Volume II. I know that you worked tremendously hard over this book, and you were handicapped by being away from sources of information. Your publishers will doubtless make more than one printing, and so you will want to correct errors in the plates.

The following names are misspelled: Caron, Mesaba, Lippmann, Ella Reeve Bloor. I have two letters from Mrs. Bloor before me as I write, so I know by her own handwriting that she has no "s" in her middle name. The name occurs three or four times, so be sure to correct it in each place. George Greel will hardly recognize himself as John Greel. Also there is a very bad double negative in the second sentence on page 592.

My earlier letter about Volume I, was sent in care of your publisher and I sent them a copy of that letter, and will also send them a carbon copy of this one.

Sincerely,
